BROOKLYN, N.Y.

NAVY YARD STATION

U.S. POSTAGE 2 CENTS 2

Miss Frances Levine,
70 Somers St.,
Brooklyn,
N. Y.

July 2nd, 1917.

My darling Frances:-

Good morning, sweetheart mine, How are you? I'm O.K. Got in this morning at the usual time. Went to bed at 11 45 last night, and what do you think? At exactly 4 o'clock I woke up, without anybody waking me. Of course, everybody had to get up.

Another thing. When I got home last night, Rose & Ben weren't home. They came in near 11 30. I was kidding her along something awful, & you! Lordy, lordy. As I told you, if anything serious should arise between them, I'm going to take.

I gave mom the $10 and told her about our proposition. She came was happy & said it was the wisest & the best thing to do. Of course, we, you & I, receive her blessings & if we could change them to money, we'd have a couple of millions.

I'll close now darling with all my love to my little sweetheart, Ann.

Lovingly,

Joe

Mom is holding the money until I go to the house.